B.2.2.4 Recent events

On 30 March 2026, Belfius presented its strategic plan for the period 2026-2030, titled “Unlock 2030”. This plan is built around a new corporate purpose: “Unlocking potential with optimism”. This strategic plan translates into different key performance indicators and other financial targets which Belfius aims to attain. Investors should note that there can be no assurance that these key performance indicators and targets will be attained, including for reasons which may be outside of Belfius’ control.

Belfius is furthermore expanding its activities beyond Belgium for the first time. In corporate banking, Belfius Bank will establish a dedicated International Desk, operating from Belgium with local market expertise covering France, the Netherlands, Germany and Luxembourg. In the insurance segment, Belfius Direct Insurance intends to leverage its digital subscription model to progressively export its model to France as second home market.

At the end of 2025, the Belgian federal government, through the Federal Holding and Investment Company (SFPIM) through which the shares of Belfius Bank are held by the Belgian state, authorised Belfius Bank to prepare for the opening of Belfius Bank’s capital to other shareholders up to a maximum of 20%.

B.3 What are the key risks that are specific to the Issuer/Guarantor?

B.3.1 Issuer: Belfius Financing Company

Dependency on Guarantor: Belfius Financing Company is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Belfius Bank, whose principal purpose is to raise funds to be on-lent to Belfius Bank. This means that the capacity of Belfius Financing Company to pay interest and other amounts under the Notes and to repay the Notes upon their maturity, depends mainly on Belfius Bank.

B.3.2 Guarantor: Belfius Bank SA/NV

B.3.2.1 Run-off portfolios: Belfius is exposed to risks in relation to its run-off portfolios, which originate from the period before its separation from the Dexia Group in 2011. There can be no assurance that the risk profile of the run-off portfolios will not deteriorate during the remainder of their lifetimes. Their long-term maturity, their single-name and industry concentration and their liquidity profile result in a higher sensitivity of the fair value of those run-off portfolios to adverse macroeconomic conditions or changes in the regulatory framework, for example compared to Belfius’ core business portfolios. In view of the long maturity of the run-off portfolios, these concentrations are not expected to decline rapidly.

- B.3.2.2 Profitability: Changes in the profitability and in the expectations about the future profitability can influence the secondary market value of Belfius' liabilities, impact its solvency and liquidity profiles and affect its reputation and the implementation of its strategy. A large number of factors could trigger profitability issues for Belfius, including the general economic and geopolitical environment as well as the monetary policy. The macroeconomic environment also directly impacts the profitability of Belfius. The competition in the banking market is furthermore causing a strain on the overall profitability.
- B.3.2.3 Non-financial risks ("NFR"): NFR must be understood as a broad umbrella covering all risks except financial risks (the latter encompassing market, asset and liability management, liquidity, credit and insurance risks). NFR covers, among others, operational risks (including in relation to fraud, HR, IT, IT-security, business continuity, outsourcing, data-related and privacy) as well as (but not limited to) reputational, compliance, legal and tax and ESG risks. If any of these risks materialises, this may have an adverse impact on Belfius' business, results of operations, financial condition and prospects. Any disruptions to Belfius' operational processes or IT systems, including as a result of internal or external fraud, hacking or other cybercrime, or the adoption of or migration to new systems, could adversely affect the overall operational or financial performance of Belfius' business, as well as harm its reputation and/or attract increased regulatory scrutiny and intervention (including sanctions), any of which could have a material adverse effect on its business, results of operations, financial condition and prospects.
- B.3.2.4 Credit risk: The credit risk arising from changes in credit quality and the recoverability of loans, bonds or other amounts due from customers and counterparties is inherent in a wide range of Belfius' businesses. Such risk can arise from variations in the creditworthiness of borrowers or issuers of financial instruments that Belfius owns, as well as other counterparties, and the possible inability to recover amounts due from these borrowers, issuers and counterparties. Belfius is also exposed to the risk of non-performance by third parties such as trading counterparties, counterparties under swaps and credit and other derivative contracts, issuers of securities which Belfius holds, customers, clearing agents and clearing houses, exchanges, guarantors, insurers and reinsurers and other financial intermediaries or in relation to other securities or assets. Credit risk is highly correlated with the geopolitical environment. Belfius' credit risk is also influenced by the general economic situation. As a result of the geographical concentration of its activities, Belfius is particularly exposed to the risk of adverse economic and political conditions emerging in Belgium. Belfius may also be particularly exposed to the risk of adverse economic conditions in specific Belgian geographic regions. Belfius' credit risk is further amplified by the concentration on some segments such as the public and not-for-profit institutions or the Belgian hospitals. Furthermore, due to its significant long-dated exposures to Italian sovereign bonds, Belfius is also exposed to the risk of adverse economic and political conditions in Italy.
- B.3.2.5 Liquidity risk: Liquidity risk consists of the risk that Belfius will not be able to meet both expected and unexpected current and future cash flows and collateral needs. The liquidity risk of Belfius is mainly stemming from (i) commercial funding collected from customers and the way these funds are allocated to customers through different types of loans/products, (ii) the volatility of collateral that is to be deposited at counterparties as part of the CSA framework for derivatives and repo transactions (so called cash & securities collateral), (iii) the value of the liquid reserves by virtue of which Belfius can collect funding on the repo market and/or from the ECB, (iv) the capacity to obtain interbank and institutional funding, (v) the concentration risk of funding sources, counterparties and maturities and (vi) the intraday liquidity risks related to instant payments. Liquidity risk is inherent in much of Belfius' business. If Belfius were to face difficulties in accessing funding, its business, results of operations, financial condition and prospects could be materially adversely affected and the impact would in such case be high.
- B.3.2.6 Strategy risk: Belfius may face adverse consequences if it is ineffective in implementing its strategy or if its strategy proves to be inadequate, for example due to changes in the Belgian, European and/or global context in which Belfius is or becomes active and which Belfius did not, or did not sufficiently, consider. The implementation and achievement of Belfius' strategy and its operational and financial performance is dependent upon many factors, some of which are beyond Belfius' control, including general conditions of the bank and insurance industries. Belfius furthermore faces a competitive environment in all the markets in which it operates and its profitability is generally dependent on the level of demand for its products and services as a whole, and on its ability to control its risk profile and operating costs.
- B.3.2.7 Market risks: Belfius is exposed to the risk that changes in market prices or rates, including changes in and increased volatility of interest rates, inflation rates, credit and basis spreads, foreign exchange rates, equity, commodity prices and prices for bonds and other instruments will adversely impact its business, results of operations, financial condition and prospects. Other risk factors, like correlations or mean reversion related to these asset classes may also affect Belfius' trading portfolio. Geopolitical events, such as the numerous conflicts worldwide, may increase market risk. Belfius also faces market risks stemming from credit spread evolutions, especially on its bonds and uncollateralised derivatives portfolios, as the fair value of these financial instruments could fall due to credit spread widening and cause Belfius to record mark to market losses at the time of sale or through fair value adjustments through its statement of income.

See B.2.2.3 above

C.3.4 Most material risk factors pertaining to the Guarantor

See B.3.2 above

C.4 What are the key risks that are specific to the Notes?

C.4.1 Risks related to the exercise of the bail-in resolution tool: Directive (EU) 2014/59/EU (as amended, the “BRRD”) aims to provide supervisory and resolution authorities with common tools and powers to address banking crises pre-emptively in order to safeguard financial stability and minimise taxpayers’ exposure to losses. This means that holders of the Notes (“Noteholders”) may lose some or all of their investment (including outstanding principal and accrued but unpaid interest) as a result of the exercise by the Relevant Resolution Authority of the “bail-in” resolution tool. The exercise by the Relevant Resolution Authority of its resolution powers (including the statutory loss absorption powers) in relation to the Notes or the Guarantee, or the (perceived) prospect of such exercise, could have a material adverse effect on the value of the Notes and could lead to the holders of the Notes losing some or all of their investment in their Notes.

C.4.2 Risks related to the market value of the Notes: The market value of the Notes will be affected by a number of factors, including, but not limited to, market interest and yield rates, volatility in the market, the creditworthiness of the Issuer and the Guarantor, the time remaining to any redemption date or maturity date, and economic, financial and political events in one or more jurisdictions. The price at which a Noteholder will be able to sell the Notes prior to maturity may be at a discount, which could be substantial, to the market value of the Notes on their issue date. Potential investors should consider reinvestment risk in light of other investments available at that time.

C.4.3 Risk related to the impact of transaction costs on yield: When the Notes are purchased or sold, several types of incidental costs (including transaction fees and commissions) are incurred in addition to the current price of the security. These incidental costs may significantly reduce or even exclude the profit potential of the Notes. In addition to such costs directly related to the purchase of securities, Noteholders must also take into account any other costs (such as custody fees). Investors should inform themselves about any additional costs which they may incur in connection with the purchase, custody or sale of the Notes before investing in the Notes.

C.4.4 Risk related to inflation: The real return which an investor will receive on its Notes may be affected by inflation. Inflation risk is the risk that the future real value of an investment will be reduced by inflation over time, which could be caused by an increase in prices or a decrease in the value of money. Where inflation is high, as is the case in the current economic climate, it is possible that the real return which an investor will receive on its Notes will be reduced or will even be negative.

C.4.5 Risk related to the waiver of the right of set-off, netting, compensation and retention: Subject to applicable law, no Noteholder may exercise or claim any right of set-off, netting, compensation or retention in respect of any amount owed to it by the Issuer arising under or in connection with the Notes and each Noteholder shall, by virtue of its subscription, purchase or holding of a Note, be deemed to have waived all such rights of set-off, netting, compensation and retention.

C.4.6 Risks related to change of law, including tax law: The terms and conditions of the Notes are, save to the extent referred to therein, based on legislation in effect as at the date of issue of the Notes. No assurance can be given as to the impact of any possible judicial decision or changes to the laws in Belgium, Luxembourg, other jurisdictions (such as the Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act under US law) or on a supranational level (e.g. the EU Financial Transaction Tax) or administrative practice after the date of issue of the Notes.
